OLMERT VOWS TO PROTECT SOLDIERS, PG 7

Man found dead in RCMP custody

INVESTIGATION A man died in RCMP custody over the weekend and Halifax Regional Police have been asked to investigate.

RCMP in Enfield were called to a residence on Highway 2 on Saturday night. They arrested a 28year-old man for breaching a court order to stay away from the residence.

The man was co-operative with police and he was arrested without inci-

He was taken to the RCMP detachment where he was put into a cell to await a court appearance Monday.

But at 3:50 a.m. yesterday, he was unresponsive and staff couldn't revive him.

The RCMP major crime unit and Halifax police are investigating and an autopsy is scheduled for today.

RCMP did not release the man's name yesterday. METRO HALIFAX

Chinese Society of Nova Scotia lion dancers parade around the McNally Theatre Auditorium yesterday as part of the Year of the Ox party for Families with Children from China at Saint Mary's University. The Chinese New Year starts today.

Local pg 4

Haligonians check their inhibitions

wash away Stampede

ShareYourViews halifaxletters@metronews.ca

Bus strike averted

Wheels keep spinning to school for students

PAUL MCLEOD
paul.mcleod@metronews.ca

Parents can breathe a sigh of relief now that school bus drivers have agreed on a new contract and will not go on strike.

As late as Saturday afternoon, the union and its employer, Stock Transportation, were worlds apart, said Nova Scotia General Employees Union president Joan Jessome.

But after hours of negotiations, a deal was reached after 3 a.m. yester-

"(Union members) are shocked. They didn't believe that we would get what we got without a strike. They're very pleased," said Jessome.

"(Union members) are shocked. They didn't believe we would get what we got without a strike. They're very pleased. They stuck together. They would have gone out if necessary, but they're very relieved they didn't have to."

Joan Jessome, employees union president

"They stuck together. They would have gone out if necessary, but they're very relieved they didn't have to.'

As of today, bus drivers' salaries will top out at $15 per hour, up from the $12.49 they made previ-

That extends retroactively to the summer when the last contract ex-

The deal also has other perks, like two extra days off per year.

The contract was accepted by 85 per cent of the 247 union members who voted.

The province and school board both issued statements of relief that a deal was reached before a strike.

Jessome said she thought Saturday that a strike was inevitable, and the union had already began gearing up.

Stock Transportation's first offer would have moved wages over $15 only at the end of the contract, with no retroaction. Jessome called that unacceptable. And while she said she's pleased with the new schedule, the union still isn't where it would like to be.

"Not everybody's hap-py," Jessome said. "There are things we didn't get and we're not where we'd like to be. But we are definitely going in the right direction."

The contract runs until June 2011 and includes 2.9 and 3.7 per cent wage increases in the second and third year, respectively.

Tax cuts and training in Tory budget in training and support funds for those who lose their jobs will be announced in tomorrow's federal budget, along with hundreds of millions of dollars to create a new economic development agency for hard-hit southern Ontario.

Human Resources Minister Diane Finley outlined the spending in an interview with the Toronto Star as Prime Minister Stephen Harper hinted the budget would contain permanent tax cuts to put extra money in the pockets of middle-class

Canadians.

ment • $50M to expand slaughterhouses farms, equip-

Package

Overall stimulus valued at

• $1B fund for mining, farm-

• $2B for so-

Permanent

$500M to

ing, forestry

cial housing

tax cuts modernize

about $21B

$50 million promote forestry Finley said abroad

the budget $100M for would conforestry techtain $1.5 bilnology lion in cash to provide training for laid-off workers who are eligible to collect employment insurance and for those who cannot access EI funds under current rules.

She admitted yesterday that a lot of Canadians are "unfortunately" going to lose their jobs before the economy bounces back.

Brushing aside budget secrecy traditions, the Conservatives continue to roll out the big-ticket items in tomorrow's budget on an item-byitem basis. And cabinet ministers are hinting at permanent tax cuts that will provide more cash for middle-class Canadians in hopes they will spend it on consumer goods to jump-start the desperately weak economy.

> TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE MORE COVERAGE ON PGS 4, 6 & 9

Canada 2009 Federal Budget

GETNISSAN MORE NISSAN FOR YOUR MONEY

NO PAYMENTS FOR DAYS

ON OUR MOST POPULAR 2009 MODELS*

VERSA H/BSVOP

Automatic, Power Group, A/C, CD, Keyless Entry, Side Cutain Airbags

OR 149
BI-WEEKLY
FOR 72 MONTHS AT 2.9%

ALTIMA

CVT Automatic, Power Group, A/C, CD, Keyless Entry, Intelligent Key Push Button Start

OR 199
BI-WEEKLY
FOR 72 MONTHS AT 2.9%

ROGUE

CVT Automatic, Power Group, A/C, CD, Keyless Entry, Anti-Lock Brakes

DOWN SENTRA

CVT Automatic, Power Group, A/C, CD, Keyless Entry, Anti-Lock Brakes

FOR 72 MONTHS AT 2.9%

OR 159 BI-WEEKLY FOR 72 MONTHS AT 2.9%

OFFERS EXPIRE JANUARY 31ST

PLUS HUGE MARKDOWNS ON ALL REMAINING 2008 MODELS!!

WWW.OREGANSNISSAN.COM

NISSAN

HALIFAX • 3461 KEMPT ROAD • 902.453.2020

DARTMOUTH • 60 BAKER DRIVE, UNIT C • 902.469.8484

The first man to walk through the Maritime Museum of the Atlantic will be welcomed back on Thursday as part of the museum's 27th birthday celebration. Ralph Muench was 14 when he was first through the door on Jan. 22, 1982. METRO HALIFAX

Local

The need to read

Forget the federal budget, tomorrow is Family Literacy Day. Libraries kicked off the celebrations this weekend by trying to break a Guinness world record for the most children reading with an adult at one time. The record of 78,791 was set by the U.S. in 2006.

Gloade given 15 years in jail

James Gloade, 25, sat in a packed courtroom Friday, forced to listen to the painful tales of family members impacted after he killed his grandmother, Nora Bernard, by slitting her throat.

At times he rubbed his eyes and trembled, but for most of the lengthy provincial court hearing, he sat with his head cradled in his hands, eyes to the floor, before finally being sentenced to 15 years in prison.

"Knowing that one of grandchildren mom's went in there and caused her so much pain and damage is heart-wrenching to the least," Janice say Blenkhorn, Bernard's youngest daughter, read from her victim impact statement.

"I felt sick to my stomach knowing that the lips that kissed him and all of her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were busted, and that the hands that held him and all of us were so damaged that they could not be crossed in her coffin to hold her prayer beads."

Bernard, 72, a native elder and activist, was slain in her home during the night of Dec. 27, 2007, by a drugcrazed Gloade who had stopped by to try to get money to supply his habit.

Gloade was described in court as a "defiant, dangerous and deadly" person "I apologize to my family and I am ashamed of what I did. I've got to live with it for the rest of my life."

James Gloade

with a lengthy criminal record who continues to use drugs while in jail.

He was sexually abused as a young boy by members of his biological father's family, who also introduced him to drugs at about age 11.

Crown attorney Nigel Allan, who had called for a de-"the 20-year sentence, scribed the case as most extreme kind of manslaughter, falling just short of second-degree murder."

Defence lawyer Stan MacDonald had suggested a 10-year sentence. He said his client is remorseful for the crime, keeps a picture of Bernard tucked away in his cell and prays to her for forgiveness.

'Ĭ apologize to my family and I am ashamed of what I did," Gloade told the court. "I've got to live with it for the rest of my life. I'm sorry.'

THE TRURO DAILY NEWS

Hospital tackles crowding crisis

JENNIFER TAPLIN

jennifer.taplin@metronews.ca

Patient overcrowding in the Queen Elizabeth II Health Sciences Centre's emergency room reached crisis levels last week, and administration is trying to figure out what to do.

Health Minister Karen Casey met with Chris Power, CEO of the Capital District Health Authority, on Friday.

Earlier last week, the director of the ER at the QEII pulled a code orange, which is normally used for a disaster like a plane crash.

The alarm marked the first time a code orange was used to deal with an internal problem of too many patients in the ER.

Peter Graham, spokesman for Capital District Health Authority, said Power promised to give Casey daily reports on bed capacity and patient levels.

"One of the things that came out of the discussion Emerg expansion

• ER expansion construction, which began in 2007, will be completed in May. Graham said it will give the ER the ability to double the number of beds during emergencies.

was what are the protocols that are available to all staff to access additional resources and support before we get to a crisis level like a code orange.'

January and February are typically the busiest months for ERs, with so many cases of slip-andfalls, pneumonia and the

Graham said in an interview yesterday said they were already working on new overcrowding procedures when the code orange was activated on Tuesday.

A new policy directing other units in the hospital to help out will be available on Feb. 1.

Ticket issued after mother, children hit at a crosswalk

TRAFFIC A Dartmouth man was recently ticketed for hitting two small children and a woman in a crosswalk on Jan. 16.

The trio was hit just before 2:30 p.m. by a minivan that was turning left on to Victoria Road from Primrose Street. A four-year-old girl was taken to the IWK children's hospital with significant injuries to her lower body. The four-year-old boy and the women had less severe injuries.

Police issued a ticket on Friday to the driver, a 47year-old man, for failing to yield to a pedestrian in a crosswalk. METRO HALIFAX

Olympics Victory dance

Olympic gold-medal winner Mark Tewksbury jumps in excitement while re-enacting his 1992 100-metre swimming win in front of a crowd yesterday. Tewksbury was in town to speak at the Optimyz Live - Health and Fitness Lifestyle Show at the World Trade and Convention Centre.

Community rallies around Coastal Discovery Centre

munity Development Association, which operates the centre, has had to reconsider its long-term development strategy after its anchor tenant, the Main-a-

The Main-a-Dieu Com-

metrenews.ca WHAT'S ONLINE TODAY

Comment What could a $34-billion deficit buy at metronews.ca/canada Crime RCMP "Mr. Big" sting operations come under fire at metronews.ca/canada

Global Style columnist Kenya Hunt launches her new blog at metronews.ca /canada

Lotteries

Friday, Jan. 23

Lotto Super 7: 3, 4, 1, 22, 28, 34 & 37 Bonus 21 Saturday, Jan. 24 Lotto 6/49: 9, 13, 20, 29, 35, 46 Bonus 5 These results are not official.

to hear details of what organizers called a "rescue

News in brief plan" to save the facility.

MAIN-A-DIEU More than 50

residents attended an emergency meeting at the

Coastal Discovery Centre

THEFT A man robbed the Petro-Canada on Quinpool Road on Saturday. Just after 6:30 a.m., a man walked in and said he had a handgun, but didn't show it. He left with a small amount of cash and some merchandise. The suspect is a 6-0 black man in his 20s. He wore a black parka.

TRAFFICKING Police found marijuana and scales in a car when they stopped it in Spryfield on Friday night. An adult woman and two male youths are facing trafficking charges. The two boys are also facing probation breaches.

DRUGS A 23-year-old man is facing drug-trafficking charges. Police arrested Jason Fudge at a Bedford highway bar last week. He faces charges of trafficking cocaine and possessing ecstasy. METRO HALIFAX

Dieu Credit Union, closed

The rescue plan is a mod-

METRO NEWS SERVICES

el for social development rather than business devel-unexpectedly last May.

Men arrested after car break-ins

POLICE Two break-and-enter suspects were picked up by police on Friday morning.

At 5 a.m., police were called to the Victoria and Pine streets area of Dartmouth by someone who noticed two men allegedly rummaging through vehicles.

Police found the two men and discovered something else: Along with their break-and-enter tools, they also allegedly had a credit card and cellphone reported missing from earlier robberies.

Two 36-year-old men are facing several charges.

METRO HALIFAX

Rainmen Face in the Crowd

If that's you wearing the blue shirt and sporting the 'stache at the Rainmen game, you're our Face in the Crowd winner! Drop by the Metro office at 3260 Barrington St. to pick up your prize: A Rainmen Flex Pack.

Regan appointed Liberal Natural Resources critic Halifax West MP Geoff Regan was appointed the Natural Resources critic in the Liberal shadow cabinet on Friday. He said he plans to focus on the development of renewable energy sources such as tidal, wind and solar power. METRO HALIFAX

Check your inhibitions Tax cuts, industry aid to feature in

Everything To Do With Sex featured at Cunard Centre

paul.mcleod@metronews.ca

As Lady Viktoria dragged a fork across her bound and blindfolded husband's chest, his yelps of surprise made the crowd chuckle.

"I'm just trying to get your nipples erect, hon," smirked Viktoria, as the audience hooted with laughter.

Clearly this ain't your grandmother's sex conven-

Lady Viktoria's Pervy Play Time seminar showed spectators just how much fun they could have with everyday household items. It was just one of the features this weekend at the Cunard Centre's successful Everything To Do With Sex Show.

It seems Haligonians love their sex, as massive crowds filled the weekendlong convention.

"It's been overwhelming how many people have been attending the show. All different ranges of ages, all walks of life," said Rachel Dodds, who runs the company Sexy Girl.

seems inhibitions were checked at the door, as crowds filled Dodds' seminars with names like Unleash Your Inner Fellatio Goddess. The Sexy Girl Sex educator Viktoria Kalenteris, a.k.a. Lady Viktoria, shows her husband some fork love yesterday onstage at the Everything To Do With Sex Show at the Cunard Centre.

"It's been overwhelming how many people have been attending the show. All different ranges of ages, all different walks of life. Rachel Dodds tushie cleanses — whatever those are.

"The kind of people who have been coming into our booth and the products they have been purchasing, you would never put together," them Dodds. "Ever."

Other booths ranged from fancy glass sex toys to booth even sold out of nude body painting, and from lingerie to instruction on how to properly whip and spank your partner.

Given this, the environment was surprisingly relaxed.

"The people are awe-Everybody's so some. more outspoken about sex," said Tricia Morden, who spent the weekend modelling lingerie.

model Her fellow Corinne Coleman-Milley said she loved seeing so many normal people being open about their sexuality. It made strutting around in lingerie easier.

"I walk around in less at the beach, so it's not really a thing. And everybody's here to see that sort of stuff, so it's not anything feel uncomfortable about," she said.

For those who missed it, there'll be the second annual Everything To Do With Sex Show next year.

budget: MacKay

RACHEL BOOMER rachel.boomer@metronews.ca

Tomorrow's federal budget will bring tax cuts and lots of construction, along with shots in the arm for ailing sectors like auto and forestry, says ACOA Minister Peter MacKay.

The recession has forced the Harper Tories to open up the treasury, and MacKay told reporters Friday there'll be a heavy emphasis on construction.

"It's obviously intended to as quickly and effectively as possible stimulate the economy. It will, by ne"It's designed in a cessity, involve a lot way that will have of emphasis the maximum effect infra-in the shortest structure ... the type of amount of time." projects that very much needed," MacKay said.

Peter MacKay

"It's designed in a way that will have the maximum effect in the shortest amount of time, given the seriousness of this economic crisis."

MacKay said there will also be money for hard-hit areas such as Ontario, where manufacturing and the decline of the auto sector have pushed the province into have-not status.

MacKay was in Halifax on Friday to hand out $12.5 million in ACOA research money for six Nova Scotia companies.

Federal Budget

Sydney's Keata Pharma will use $3 million over the next three years to use galanthamine, a compound found in daffodil leaves, to produce a cheaper drug that helps delay the onset of Alzheimer's.

Halifax's Genome Atlantic is getting $3 million over four years to work on new techniques for preventing farmed cod from maturing too quickly, a project aimed at helping the cod industry recov-

Helly Hansen, in Dartmouth, working on a new type of cold-water survival suit for the offshore industry. It'll get $1 million over three vears.

Amherst's C-Vision got $3 million over two years to work on solar-powered streetlights and other green streetlight projects.

Dalhousie University got $1.1 million over five years to develop new acoustic tools for shoreline protection and navigation channels.

Finally, Oxford Frozen Foods, which is developing new ways to cut the costs and raise the yields of their wild blueberry fields, got $1.4 million over five years.

Hands-on parenting essential: Expert

SKANA GEE for Metro Halifax

Nurture. Structure. Latitude. Those are the key ingredients for raising a kid who will be a good learner, worker, citizen, spouse and friend, a leading parenting expert told a forum in Halifax last week.

"There is about a halfcentury now of research that shows the things that are really essential," psychologist Robert Evans told a crowd of several hundred that gathered for his spirited talk at Saint Mary's University.

He said nurturing — unconditional love and parental attention — is problematic these days because "you actually have to be with the child.'

In a modern world where France's justice minister returns to work just five days after giving birth, "people who love their children and want the best for them are trying to raise them in a hurry."

Speaking about what he called the myth of quality time, Evans said good parenting is labour-intensive, requiring huge amounts of 'mind-numbing tedium."

He also said the teachers he speaks to these days often talk about students who "assume everything is negotiable" because that's the situation in their homes. That's where structure — enforced rules around behaviour and expectations - comes in, which is "profoundly comforting" to kids.

"We have more and more parents who want to prepare a path for their child instead of preparing their child for the path." Robert Evans

Meanwhile, enough latitude to learn from mistakes and hone problemsolving skills is imperative if kids are to succeed, said Evans, whose latest book is Family Matters: Schools Can Cope with the Crisis in Childrearing.

"We have more and more parents who want to prepare a path for their child instead of preparing their child for the path," he said.

Evans, who is executive director of the Human Relations Service in the U.S. and a former high school and pre-school teacher, was brought to Halifax by local members of the Atlantic Conference of Independent Schools.

He stressed that each person must tailor his or her parenting approach, but that nurture, structure and latitude must form the toundation.

They build what Evans calls the three Cs: Character, caring and competence.

ACOA and National Defence Minister Peter MacKay speaks to reporters Friday. MacKay was in Halifax to hand out $12.5 million in research money to six Nova Scotia companies.

News in brief

FIRE After a week of investigating a fire at the Paint Recycling Co. in Springhill, authorities have determined the fire was accidental. Evidence of the Paint Recycling Co.'s drive to rise from the ashes of the fire that affected a quarter of the building could be seen from Main Street yesterday, with pallets of paint and equipment being moved outside by forklift. The company employs 13

PETROLEUM The Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Board has announced the appointment of Stuart Pinks as CEO. Pinks is a senior regulatory and operations executive who has served as manager of health, safety and environment, and chief safety officer with the Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Board since joining the organization in 2002.

METRO NEWS SERVICES

BAPARTMENT FINDER

TO ADVERTISE CONTACT KRISTA RODGERS AT 421-5861. OR KRISTA.RODGERS@METRONEWS.CA

RENTALS

A place you can call home in Uptown Halifax

Crown on Regency is just minutes away from downtown, but miles away from the hustle and hassle. Located in the brand new Mount Royale subdivision in Clayton Park, you'll find a more comfortable lifestyle for you and your family at Crown on Regency.

- * Upscale amenities
- * Granite kitchen countertops
- * Laminate floor living areas
- * Heat and hot water included
- Underground parking & individual storage lockers
- * Five appliances
- * Tile entry/utility areas
- * Barrier free suites available
- * Party room & Fitness Room

Stylish, Spacious & Welcoming Suites

WWW.CAPRENT.COM

PARK VICTORIA

1333 SOUTH PARK ST.

2 bdrms $1345/month

3 bdrms $1500/month

(902) 404-7676

Get a FREE $500 Atlantic Superstore Gift Card on 2 bedroom units Ocean Towers on Brunswick Street 1, 2 & 3 bedrooms available from $765

Steps to Scotia Square, Purdy's Warf, Ferries, Stadacona & DND Docky

 24 hour maintenance guarantee
 Indoor & outdoor parking available Additional 5% discount off rent for students ewly Renovated Spacious Apartments

*On selected suites. May not be used with other offers. Offer expires Jan 31/09. Allow 8-10 weeks for gift card Promo may be changed or cancelled at any time.

Ask about our Renovated Suites

(limited quantities)

TERRACEVIEW

- 41 Cowie Hill Rd, 1 & 2 Bedroom Units
- common area balconies
- onsite management & rental office
- bus route just outside

from $615/mth incl h/hw/prk

Call Sandi to view 488-7368 www.halifaxapartments.ca

Fantastic Incentives 477-0818

461-HOME (4663)

Renting apartments since 1972

Windmill Road, Crystal Drive area & Highfield Park Fantastic Dartmouth locations close to where you work!

Monthly leases available

Bachelors

from $485.00

1 Bedrooms from $565.00

2 Bedrooms from $635.00

5% Discount to DND, Convergy's, Burnside and Dartmouth Crossing Employees*

Ask about our referral program!

Close to Mic Mac Mall. Burnside Park & Dartmouth Crossings . Near Metro transit bus routes & schools Furnished suites available Call 461.9429, or visit us

Spacious 2 bedroom apartments available in 20 buildings

• Most units include heat, hot water & balconies

. On site fitness room and social events room

• Friendly staff available 24/7

• Fireplace, dishwashers & laundry hook-up in selected suites at 96 Highfield Park Drive Highfieldpark@oxfordproperties.com

Luxury Living at Affordable Prices

We offer studio, 1, 2 and 3 Bedroom suites, three bedroom townhomes in Halifax and surrounding areas

- - Heat, Hot Water Incl.
 - Two full bathrooms
 - Underground Parking Wood and ceramic
 - Spacious balconies
- video surveillance and
- Elevator service
- Ask about our furnished suites!
- And much more!

Open House Daily!

For further info please phone 880 VIEW (8439) or visit www.880view.ca

Metro Supports Give Girls A Chance! Educate a Girl. Change the World.

www.givegirlsachance.org

metr⊕

ATTENTION FAMILIES

3BR Duplexes from $700 4BR Duplexes from $800 Lacated on Ruben Court in Dartmouth

Special Offer - 2 appliances included at no extra charge with a yearly lease. 452-1376

YOUR OWN SPACE?

1601 Lower Water St. Halifax 425-8877

Find it at universalproperties.ca

Fully Furnished Suites located on Lake Maynard in Downtown Dartmouth, near Penhorn, Woodlawn and Mic Mac Malls.

- Fully Equipped Kitchens
- Fridge/Stove/Microwave
- All Utensils/Cookware -Coffee Maker & Toaster
- Linens/Laundry Facilities
- -Free Parking -TV with VCR & DVD. Cable TV
- Computer Desk & Halogen Light -Individual Security Safes -Internet & Utilities Included - Maid Service (extra)

Daily, Weekly, Monthly SUNSET TOWERS SUITES 341 Portland Street, Dartmouth B2Y 1K7 T: 464-1114 F: 464-1124

sunsettowers@accesscable.net

OCEAN BROOK

40 Charlotte Lane

Bachelor $610/month

1 bdrm $755/month

2 bdrms $865/month

(902) 404-4440

′COURT Newly renovated 1, 2, and 3 bedroom apartments available at affordable prices.

Rent starting at $695 and includes heat, hot water and parking.

> 3 bedrooms have 1.5 baths with w/d hook ups.

880.4455 halifaxapartments.ca

- Luxury 2 bedroom apts. now available
- Harbour & city views
- Quality, upscale finishes.
- Six appliances. Stainless kitchen & granite. Air-conditioned.
- Ceramic, laminate & carpet.
- Housekeeping service & drycleaning available.
- On-site fitness, spa & dining. Heated parking available.
- CALL 222.6611 5150 Salter Street, Hfx

Managed by: Greenwood Lane Inc.

www.saltersgate.com

Turnout too low for compensation vote

A referendum on a proposed agreement that would have compensated members of Manitoba's Peguis First Nation for land it surrendered a century ago has failed to draw enough voters to make the results count. There were more than 4,000 eligible voters, but fewer than 1,500 cast ballots. CBC NEWS ONLINE

Canada

Back-to-work order quashed

Ontario's New Democrats have stalled the provincial government's bid to legislate an end to the York University strike. NDP Leader Howard Hampton, left, said he was against forcing an end to the 11-week-old labour dispute. The back-to-work legislation tabled yesterday could have ended the strike at Canada's third largest university, but the NDP's eight members voted against early passage.

Canada 2009

Federal Budget

Upcoming Coverage Tuesday What provinces are

- asking for
- Lawrence Martin on what to expect
- Charles Davies on securities regulators Wednesday
- The breakdown on who gets what
- Reaction from the Opposition coalition Profiles on ocally affectfamilies

Harper a changed man

From the Senate to fixeddate elections and government appointments, Prime Minister Stephen Harper has seen his political principles tested and turned on their head in recent months.

Tomorrow, Harper will put a price tag on that political journey — as much as $34 billion — as the minority Conservatives unveil a budget that will spill red ink on a scale not seen in more than a decade.

This from a prime minister who just months ago vowed there would be no

"We will not be running a deficit. We will keep our spending within our means. It is that simple.

"We will not be running a deficit. We will keep our spending within our means."

Stephen Harper, on Oct. 7

Canada 2009 Federal Budget

The alternative is not a plan. It is just the consequence of complete panic, and this government will not panic at a time of uncertainty," Harper told a Toronto audience on Oct.

Times change quickly and, with them, the politicians who rule.

The story of Harper these past few months - as he grapples with a minority Parliament and a fast-changing economic downturn — has been one political principles meeting reality and, in the minds of some, principles sacrificed for political expediency.

"He's turned his back on so many things. He said he would never appoint senators the way he did. Sure enough, he broke that promise. Election dates, appointing Supreme Court justices, the list is pretty long,"

NDP Leader Jack Layton told CTV's Question Peri-

In case of the deficit, Harper has a good excuse for breaking his word -"extraordinary" economic crisis, a Conservative strategist said.

"Opposition is utopia. Government is messy. It's constantly a question of scorekeeping as to what you have to trade off to accomplish whatever your overall goal is."

There are some who don't buy Harper's conversion to pragmatism, but instead accuse him of losing his way and being willing to sacrifice his principles to stay in power.

"Absolutely, he abandoned his principles ... I don't even recognize this person who is the prime minister of Canada," said Gerry Nicholls, who worked with Harper at the National Citizens Coalition.

Harper is a one-time head of the coalition, a non-partisan organization for the "defence and promotion of free enterprise, free speech" and accountable government. "He was a principled small-c conservative who believed that ... conservative politicians should stick by their principles," Nicholls said. "I think he began to care more about public-opinion polls than his principles. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Avian flu confirmed at B.C. poultry farm

HEALTH The cull of about 60,000 turkeys will begin today or tomorrow following an outbreak of bird flu at a farm in Abbotsford, B.C.

The Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) confirmed Saturday the presence of H5 avian influenza at E&H Farms.

that the strain of (avian influenza) in this case is low pathogenic," the CFIA said in a release.

"Further testing is underway to confirm pathogenicity and to determine the precise subtype and strain of the virus.

Avian influenza viruses "Tests to date indicate rarely affect humans and if poultry is properly handled and cooked, does not pose a risk to food safety.

Poultry owners in the area have been asked to employ biosecurity measures and monitor their flocks, immediately reporting any sick or dead

JEFF HODSON/METRO CANADA

Chrétien Co-operating on competitiveness

Former prime minister Jean Chrétien, left, and Saudi Arabia's Minister of Finance Ibrahim al-Assaf attend the third Global Competitiveness Forum in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, yesterday. The forum brings together roughly 1,500 delegates from all over the globe with the intent to prepare advice to present to the G20 when that group meets in April.

Congratulations to Fireworks Gallery Barrington St

for being chosen Metro's Koolest Jewelry Store, as voted by Metro readers and Kool96.5 FM listeners. Tune in next month to find out the next category of the best Halifax has to Offer!

Flaherty urged to think green

Canada 2009 Federal Budget

nance Minister Iim Flaherty to keep the environment top of mind when crafting the stimulus plan, the highlight of tomorrow's federal budget, have been loud and persistent.

former Economists, prime ministers, opposition parties and activists are all urging billions of dollars to retune the Canadian economy for a low-carbon future with green cars, power, buildings and bonds.

But their hope for a greener country is up against a powerful edict that has gripped the capital. Busy bureaucrats are said to be slipping through the snowy streets of Ottawa muttering about the projects "shovel-ready" competing for upwards of $20 billion of federal funds in the hope the ventures will pull Canada out of its financial funk.

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

News in brief

TRANSIT The union representing Ottawa transit workers said it will meet with city officials to resume negotiations today, the same day thousands are expected to rally on Parliament Hill for an end to the longest bus strike in the history of the nation's capital, CBC News Online reports. The 2,300 workers have been on strike since Dec. 10.

QUEBEC An officer with Quebec provincial police is suing the force for $5.4 million, alleging it failed to protect him from racial harassment.

METRO NEWS SERVICES

An avalanche that swept down a mountain near a small winter resort killed 10 climbers in northeast Turkey yesterday, but seven of their companions survived the crush, a government minister said. Rescue teams worked through the afternoon to retrieve survivors and bodies.

World

Bruni denies role in extradition call

French first lady Carla Bruni, left, went on Italian TV yesterday to deny reports she had persuaded Brazil not to extradite an Italian guerrilla, after criticism in her homeland last year for supporting a guerrilla exiled in France. Italian-born singer and former model Bruni, who married French President Nicolas Sarkozy a year ago, told a television show she was "very surprised the Italian media should think I played such a role".

from storm

DAMAGE European countries sent teams of electricians to France yesterday and Spain deployed extra troops to help deal with the aftermath of a storm that killed 15 people in southwest France and northern Spain.

With Saturday's winds of up to 190 kilometres an hour gone, the sun rose over a chaotic landscape of fallen trees and pylons, destroyed roofs, crushed cars and scattered debris.

More than 1,000 French electricians struggled to restore power to 1.1 million

Sri Lanka claims last Tamil town

REBELS Sri Lankan soldiers captured the last major town held by Tamil Tiger separatists yesterday, moving a step closer to finishing off one of Asia's longest-running insurgencies, the army said.

The eastern port of Mullaittivu is one of the final targets of a military onslaught to end a 25-year war with the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam rebels. The army had not set foot inside it since the Tigers seized it in 1996.

News in brief

VIETNAM At least 40 people drowned when a ferry sank in central Vietnam yesterday, powomen and children on their way to a market at the start of the week-long Lunar New Year

DOWRY Nepal's beleaguered Maoist Prime Minister Prachanda vowed yesterday to ban the dowry system and criminalize untouchability. Many high caste Hindus in the remote villages still do not allow those considered to be lowest in the caste system to collect water from the same source or allow them to indigenous majority more pow-

France, Spain try to recover Israel vows to protect soldiers

Olmert says military will be protected from war-crimes accusations

International calls to investigate Israel over alleged war crimes in the Gaza Strip prompted Prime Minister Ehud Olmert yesterday to promise military personnel state protection from foreign prosecution.

"The commanders and soldiers sent to Gaza should know they are safe from various tribunals and Israel will assist them on this front and defend them, just as they protected us with their bodies during the Gaza operation," Olmert said.

Last week, the military censor ordered local and foreign media in Israel not Proposed truce terms

• Israel has proposed to Egyptian mediators an 18-month ceasefire with Hamas, but the group that controls Gaza said it wants a one-year ceasefire, a Hamas official said yesterday.

to publish names of army commanders in the Gaza war and to blur their faces in photos and video for fear they could be identified and arrested while travelling abroad.

Israeli media reports said the military had been advising its top brass to think twice about visiting Europe.

 Hamas proposed to Egyptian mediators that European and Turkish monitors be present at the border crossings, but rejected the presence of Israeli monitors.

Speaking at a weekly cabinet meeting, Olmert said Israel's justice minister would consult the country's top legal experts and find "answers to possible questions relating to the Israeli military's activities" during the 22-day

Some 1,300 Palestinians, including at least 700 civilians, were killed, medical officials said, in the offensive Israel launched in the Hamas-ruled Gaza Strip with the declared aim of ending cross-border rocket attacks.

The civilian deaths sparked public outcry abroad and prompted senior UN officials to demand independent investigations into whether Israel committed war crimes.

Ten Israeli soldiers and three civilians, hit by rocket salvoes, were killed in the conflict.

Israel said hundreds of militants were among the Palestinian dead and that it tried its best to avoid civilian casualties densely populated areas where gunmen operated.

Rights group Amnesty International has said that Israel's use of white phosphorus munitions which can cause extreme burns — in built-up areas of the Gaza Strip was indiscriminate and therefore constituted a war crime.

Israel has said it used all weapons in Gaza within the limits of international law. Its military, however, has opened an investigation into white phosphorous use during the con-

REUTERS

China Happy New Year

Fireworks illuminate the skyline of Beijing during the Chinese New Year celebrations yesterday. Hundreds of millions of Chinese geared up to welcome the Year of the Ox, packing temple fairs and setting off fireworks and firecrackers.

lice said. Most of the dead were festival, a police officer said.

worship at temples.

VOTE Bolivian voters backed a new constitution yesterday, allowing leftist President Evo Morales to run for re-election and tighten his grip on the economy, and giving the poor

Obama plans to ban weapons in space

Obama's pledge to seek a with military and commerworldwide ban on weapons cial satellites.

in space marks a dramatic shift in policy while posing the tricky issue of defining whether a satellite can be a weapon.

Obama's inauguration last week, the White House website Barack Obama tack.

Moments

was updated to include policy statements on a range of issues, including a pledge to restore U.S. leadership on space issues and seek a worldwide ban

after

POLICY U.S. President Barack on weapons that interfere

It also promised to look at threats to U.S. satellites, contingency plans to keep information flowing from them, and what steps are needed to protect spacecraft against at-

The issue is being closely watched by Lockheed Martin Corp., Boeing Co., and Northrop Grumman Corp., the biggest U.S. defence contractors. REUTERS

Nova Scotia Health

Seniors' Pharmacare Program

The provincial drug coverage plan that helps Nova Scotia seniors with the cost of prescription drugs.

It is time to renew your enrollment in the Seniors' Pharmacare program. Please look for renewal packages in your mailbox.

This year, there will be a reduction in the co-payment per prescription to 30% of the cost of each prescription, effective April 1. The annual maximum premium ($424) and annual maximum co-payment ($382) will not increase.

Depending on your income, or if you are receiving the Guaranteed Income Supplement (GIS), you may be eligible for premium exemptions or reductions.

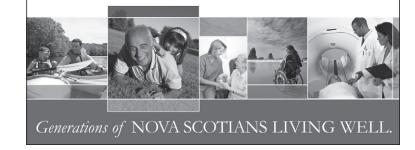

To learn more about the program, or to update your information, please call toll-free at 1-800-544-6191 or visit our website at www.nspharmacare.ca

New program year begins April 1, 2009.

Health

www.nspharmacare.ca

NATIONAL

Publisher, Greg Lutes Managing Editor, Rachel Boomer

Sales Manager, Dianne Curran Distribution Manager, April Doucette

Group Publisher, Bill McDonald Editor-in-Chief, Dianne Rinehart Assoc Mnging Editor, Tarin Elbert Assoc Night Mnging Editor, Jim Reyno Enter/Lifestyle Editor, Dean Lisk

Art Director, Laila Hakim National Sales Director, Susan Courtney Interactive/Mrktng Director, Jodi Brown

Comment & Views

Comment

First-day commandments

esides working as a writer, I've spent the last eight years studying to become a United Church minister. I go to school part-time. I've said that my goal is "to try to graduate while there is still religion."

Frankly, some days, this seems a little touch and go. Lately, the number of members in my church has been dropping faster than a Nortel-based RRSP. In fact, friends have suggested I consider a career with a brighter future. Perhaps as a typewriter salesperson or a small screen TV repairman.

UrbanScrawl

Christina

Biluk

from him.

But I've always been flavoured coffee and agree someone who follows her heart. Even when everyone's insisting its GPS must be on the blink.

As part of my studies, I'll spend the next eight months working at an inner-city church and a mental-health institution.

To prepare for my first day, I boned up on "tips for starting a new job."

One website sug-ested, "First gested, impressions are all-important. They determine how everyone views you and whether you'll achieve success in your job or any other part of your life. Ever. So, be sure to be calm and relaxed." This was not necessarily helpful.

Nor was, "Try to show you fit in." In the past, my efforts to fit in have led me to join an office lawn bowling team, drink tree barkthat Tiffany is the most underrated artist of our time.

The first-day strategy I adopted was "setting the bar low." At the church, I was issued keys and cautioned never to misplace them.

Some of you are probably thinking, "I bet she lost them in the first 10 minutes." Well, you're wrong. It only took five. For the next half hour, the entire staff searched for the keys that, fortunately, we found. Unfortunately, where we age to his presidential found them was in my jeans pocket.

Things didn't go smoothly at the mental-health institution either. Partway through the orientation questionnaire, the administrator realized I was there as staff, not as a patient. This wouldn't have been so bad except we'd already been through the like to work on while here" and "preferred medications." Am I up to this new challenge? As I head in-sections on "issues I'd to Week 2, I'm saying "definitely maybe." What I hope is that when it comes to success on the job, there's something even more important than first impressions. Second, third and fourth ones.

Anne Hines is an author and humour writer. She has written three novels and one collection of nonfiction humour.

Worth mentioning

Nigerian police holding goat for attempted theft

ing a goat on suspicion of attempted armed robbery.

Vigilantes took the black and white beast to the police saying it was an armed robber who had black magic to transform himself into a goat to escape arrest after trying to steal a Mazda 323.

"The group of vigilante men came to report that while they were on patrol, they saw some hoodlums attempting to rob a car. They pursued them. However, Police in Nigeria are hold- one of them escaped while the other turned into a goat," Kwara state police spokesman Tunde Mohammed said.

'We cannot confirm the story, but the goat is in our custody. We cannot base our information on something mystical. It is something that has to be proved scientifically, that a human being turned into a goat," he said.

The goat remains in cus-

The U.S. president sets the tone for the public. His actions are magnified with everything he does (or doesn't) do. As President

theurbanscrawl@gmail.com

Barack Obama took his oath of office last week, we eagerly awaited his inaugural address — his vision of hope, his direction for the future. And while Obama isn't the leader of our country, we can still learn

Lesson 1: Transparency. President Obama committed to creating the most open and accessible administration in U.S. history. He's using technology to connect with the public

- from weekly video addresses and the first White House blog, to public reviews of legislation and email updates. He's also allowing the public to e-mail questions, concerns, comments and well-wishes. Obama has set the bar. Let's encourage our own

Halifax can learn from Barack Obama political representatives to follow his lead, and let 118 know more about what is happening in our own city, our province and country.

Lesson 2: Follow tradition, when appropriate. Obama paid hompredecessors on his Whistle stop tour to the White House. He acknowledges that there are great lessons to be learned by those that have travelled the road before us, but also notes that it's OK to initiate change. And change things, he did; during his first week in office, his executive orders included the closing of Guantanamo Bay, and removing anti-abortion legislation tied to U.S. foreign aid. Halifax can learn from this. Balancing the best of the past with the needs of the present can help change world, from how we develop our to city how we embrace multicultur-

Lesson 3: The importance of family. I am captivated by how Obama seems just like a guy you might meet on your street. He volunteers in the community, drives his daughters to school and is helping pick out the family pet. As Illinois senator, he spent time with everyday people in the cities and towns that he represented, not just those that had money, power and influence.

As he continues to find ways to connect with the people, so should we. How you might follow his lead is up to you. But his inspiration and motivation hold no boundaries. His inauguration can be a fresh start for everyone, even those living outside the United States.

Christina Biluk is director of engagement for FUSION Halifax. Visit FUSIONHalifax.ca to find out how to get involved in shaping our city.

Quote of the Day

"On Tuesday, we'll all see whether the prime minister has learned to listen. If he hasn't learned to listen, he's not going to lead for long."

– Liberal Leader Michael Ignatieff

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

It's your turn to tell others what you think. E-mail your thoughts and opinions to: halifaxletters@metronews.ca Letters must include sender's full name, address and phone number — street name and phone numbers will NOT be published. We reserve the right to edit letters.

alism.

Dior feels downturn

Paris fashion week attendees note that Christian Dior and other labels have cut on expenses such as champagne, models and parties to save money as sales drop. REUTERS

Business

Big and bold is best'

government having already leaked deficit figures ahead of tomorrow's budget, investors are now focused on the specific measures that could boost sectors as diverse as construction and banking.

They will also be seeking confirmation that a country that until recently prided itself on fiscal prudence now sees the pressing need to borrow heavily in order to boost growth.

"Big and bold is best," said Ian Nakamoto, director of research at Mac-Dougall, MacDougall & "It cannot MacTier. be timid in this environment.

Canada 2009 Federal Budget

You've got to throw everything you've got at it."

Analysts have speculated that the specific measures could range from regulatory changes that would let Ottawa inject equity into banks, to infrastructure spending that would boost construction and engineering firms like SNC-Lavalin Group Inc.

Financial stocks such as Royal Bank of Canada, Toronto-Dominion Bank and Bank of Nova Scotia, whose fortunes are closely my, are seen as one of the best investment plays if better times beckon.

Meanwhile, government bond prices may come under some pressure from renewed deficits, though market watchers noted that Canada would not have the huge surge in supply seen in the U.S.

In currency markets, market players say a strong stimulus package could be a near-term positive for the Canadian dollar, as the boost it provides may help the Bank of Canada maintain the current positive spread to U.S. interest rates.

Chinese New Year Fair festivities

A woman wears an ice princess costume during a parade at an amusement park in Beijing yesterday. Chinese people troop to temple fairs and parks to celebrate the Lunar New Year of Ox, which starts today.

Business in brief

ECONOMY The International Monetary Fund will cut its 2009 global growth forecast again, this time to between one and 1.5 per cent. Its last forecast, made in November, was for growth of 2.2 per cent.

AUTOS German car dealers are reporting a brisk upturn in sales, thanks to government-issued vouchers of 2,500 euros for all new car buyers who scrap cars that are at least nine years old. Auto sales could surpass three million in 2009.

RESIGNATION Iceland's commerce minister has quit, calling into question the government's ability to rule amid economic collapse.

Currency juking untrue: China

CURRENCY Criticism that China is manipulating its currency is a misinterpretation of the financial crisis, unfair and being used as an excuse for trade protectionism, a Chinese official said of recent comments made by U.S. Treasury Secretary-designate Timothy Geithner.

BUSINESS BUZZ

Moving downtown:

Year-end results downtown Halifax's office vacancy rate has hit a 20-year low, at 2.9 per cent. That's down from 4.0 posted at third quarter, and down from 6.1 posted one year ago.

Maritime price drops:

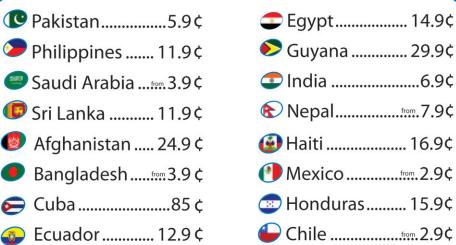

In New Brunswick, average prices in December 2008 were 0.6 per cent lower than a year earlier. In Nova Scotia, the 12-month decline was 0.2 per cent. Major contributors include a drop in gasoline prices, fuel oil and other fuels.

all-centre investment:

Nova Scotia's government will chip in $1.2 million to the $6-million New Waterford call centre upgrade for Spiegel Brands, an online and catalogue retailer.

Get the full stories delivered to your inbox every morning. Sign-up today for the DAILY BUSINESS BUZZ nsbj.ca

You can even call from your CELL PHONE!

Limited Time Offer

Call Now And Get Free Long Distance To Anywhere In The World

Call Long Distance Even From Your Cell Phone

- ✓ No need to cancel your service provider.
- $10 Free Long Distance for every friend

Try to limit use of your iron

Irons use a lot of energy. Save it by taking your clothes from the dryer and folding or hanging them up while they're warm. Better yet, hang your clothes to dry. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Save paper by using the print preview function to see if you can minimize font size or layout to cut down the number of pages that will be printed, according to Greeniology: How to Live Well, Be Green and Make a Difference by Tanya Ha.

Preview before printing

METRO NEWS SERVICES

EDITOR: MIKE DEREZYCKY, MIKE.DEREZYCKY@METRONEWS.CA

Building for a greener future

EarthTones

10

ello Metro readers. After a brief hiatus we, Earth Tones, are back.

Since we last spoke, many things have happened in the world. Most immediately relevant to most of us is the bottom has fallen out of the world economy. So, these days companies are worried about staying in business, not trading carbon credits, and individuals are worried about keeping their jobs and paying their mortgages, not about whether to buy a Smart Car or a Prius.

A year ago, the environment was consistently among the top-three priorities for Canadians in opinion polls. These days, it doesn't even crack the top five. Is the environment still relevant in today's political and economic climate? Why should we take time away from worrying about our bank balances to worry about the Earth's balance?

First of all, we need to remember the things that were making headlines six months ago, before the headlines became dominated by who was bailing

"We need to decide whether the environment is a luxury that we consider only in times of plenty, or whether it is our lifeline that we need to sustain at all times."

out whom and how much stock prices have fallen, are still happening now. They have just been eclipsed by things that may seem more immediately urgent.

Polar ice is still melting, CO2 levels are still rising. These things don't stop because humans have dug themselves a financial hole. Although worldwide manufacturing has slowed, carbon emissions have not been reduced to a level that makes a difference to global warming. need decide whether the environment is a luxury that we consider only in times of plenty, or whether it is our lifeline that we need to sustain at all times.

We also need to remember that our economy is transition." benchmark for economic "downturns" is, of course, the Great Depression. During the Depression, many world leaders used deficit spending to finance huge infrastructure projects that laid the foundation for the modern economy.

Spending one's way out of a recession" and running large budget deficits is controversial these days after the balanced budgets of the more prosperous years. However, in the past this has produced needed jobs and created infrastructure that transformed the economy.

We have before us an opportunity. The economic stimulus that we so urgently need can be used to lay a new infrastructure for a greener future. Massive investments in public transit can be made. New light-rail and bus systems can be integrated with existing systems so that in the future cars are simply not a necessity of day-today life the way they are today.

Similarly, the government plans to invest in industry, which will create jobs and confidence. Special consideration must be given to industries that will be environmentally sustainable and that will continue to support the economy into the future when oil is not readily available and carbon emissions are more strictly controlled.

So, as we adjust to the new reality let us hope that we can grow and change during these difficult times and emerge with an infrastructure that can carry us into a sustainable future.

Sophia Dore is an environmental scientist with Conestoga-Rovers & Associates. Andrew Laursen is an assistant professor at Ryerson University.

Are YOU Canada's Top Single?

Lavalife's annual Top Singles search is now on!

Enter today for your chance to compete for the title of Canada's Top Single. You could win $10,000 in cash!*

Enter today at LavalifeTop 10.com

Official Rules can be found at www.lavalifetop10.com/rules.html

Julien Lizeroux edged Jean-Baptiste Grange in a French 1-2 finish yesterday at a men's World Cup slalom. John Kucera of Calgary had two strong slalom runs to vault to sixth place in the combined event. METRO NEWS SERVICES

Sports

metronews.ca

Top seed Jankovic out of the Australian Open yesterday, beaten in straight sets by Marion Bartoli of France. On the men's side, Roger ederer survived a scare, coming back from two sets own against Tomas Berdych to reach the

JOHN.CHICK@METRONEWS.CA

Two girls and one common dream

MARTY YORK

marty.york@metronews.ca

They live in different worlds, speak different languages and play different sports.

Yet it's uncanny that Japan's Eri Yoshida and Canada's Brigette Lacquette have so much in common.

Both are 16, both are dominating male opponents and both are attracting excessive attention because of their abilities and potential.

Yoshida is blowing away batters with a remarkable sidearm knuckleball that recently landed her a professional contract in an allmale Japanese baseball league. She's being viewed in Japan as a pioneer and a symbol of the changing status of women in her coun-

Lacquette is astonishing scouts by thoroughly outplaying male opponents in the Western Manitoba AA Midget Hockey League. She is her league's top talent. She was the youngest player at the recent World Under-18 women's hockey championship in Germany and was chosen best defenceman.

"Several scouts have told me that, if Brigette continues in the direction she's going, she'll be the greatest female hockey player in Canadian history," said Scott Taylor, sports editor of Grass Roots News, Mani-

Eri Yoshida signed a professional contract with a Japanese baseball team.

toba's aboriginal newspaper. "She's one of the few players I've seen who can do everything all game with her head up. She's so fast that she flies by opponents. And she's a great playmaker."

Brigette lives in Mallard, Man. "We're nowhere," said her father, Terrence, a Métis who has lived in Mallard his entire life. "Our community has about 80 adults, 40 kids, 20 dogs and 15 cats.'

Still, dozens of universities - including Cornell, Providence, Minnesota and North Dakota - have found her and are bombarding her with expressions of interest.

Brigette, though, stands at only 5-5, so, barring a serious growth spurt, don't expect her to break the NHL's sex barrier.

Yoshida, though, has a serious chance to advance to MLB. She's only 5-0 but knuckleballers don't need size or strength. They need only to fool batters. Yoshida recently left a line of nine veteran male batters hitless and baseball types think she could seriously perfect her pitch to major league calibre.

"She can pitch," said Yoshihiro Nakada, her manager in the Kansai Independent League. "The media attention we get from her is most welcome, but that's not why she is on our team. She's with us because she's an excellent pitcher."

Brigette Lacquette, left, with a friend, was named top blueliner at the world under-18 women's hockey championship.

Yoshida started pitching in Grade 2, after her father showed her a video of Boston Red Sox knuckleballer Tim Wakefield.

"I'm honoured that she patterned herself after me," Wakefield was quoted as saying recently. "Î've heard great things about her. Apparently, she's amazing. I wish her the best of luck. Maybe I can learn something from her eventually. Nothing surprises me any more, so I wouldn't be surprised if she follows in the footsteps of other Japanese pitchers and winds up in the big leagues some day."

"The world is progressing," said Machiko Osawa, a professor Women's University. "The United States has an African-American president and Eri Yoshida has been accepted in the conservative world of sports.

"These are historical

Sports in brief

SPEED SKATING Canadian Denny Morrison won the 1,000 metres in a long-track speedskating World Cup yesterday, while his main competitor, Shani Davis of the U.S., placed a distant fourth. Christine Nesbitt added two bronzes in the event.

METRO NEWS SERVICES

SOCCER David Beckham netted his first Serie A goal and Kaka scored twice after a difficult week to give third-placed AC Milan a 4-1 comeback win at

Bologna. Kaka,

David Beckham

whose world-record move to Manchester City collapsed last Monday, converted a penalty and fired in a superb strike before Beckham wrapped things up with a near-post finish.

REUTERS

Montreal's Alexei Kovalev scores the shootout winner for the East on Roberto Luongo last night.

Kovalev the hometown hero

NHL ALL-STAR GAME

West 11 East 12 (SO)

three points on two goals and one assist and notched the game-winner in the shootout, as the Eastern Conference posted a wild 12-11 win over the Western Conference at the 57th NHL all-star game in Montreal.

Kovalev, the Montreal Canadiens' captain, collected MVP honours for the effort, his first such recognition in his 16-year career. In addition, he became the first Habs player to earn the honour since Mark Recchi in 1997 at San Jose.

Kovalev opened the second round of the shootout on a sizzling wrister to the glove side that caught West netminder Roberto Luongo off guard. After Rick Nash failed on his chance against Tim Thomas, Alex Ovechkin clinched the win by pushing a shot inside the left post.

Martin St. Louis also notched two goals and a helper for the Eastern Conference, which won for the third time in five games since the NHL re-established an East-West format in 2003. METRO NEWS SERVICES

Try Before You Bur

Often, making the first step towards leading a fitness lifestyle can be intimidating.

At the Stadium we are confident you will discover what many in our community already have.

> To get started with your fitness lifestyle call 252-4000 today!

www.thestadium.ca

DAYS FOR FREE!

Sample our:

- Co-ed Fitness Centre
- The Women's Gym
 - Aquatic Centre and much more!

*Use for 7 consecutive days. Bring in this ad to redeem offer. Participant must be a new member, 19 years or older

12 sports

Bayside's Derek Gaudet is participating at a two-week training camp with the Canadian under-20 men's soccer team. The 19-year-old midfielder is slated to represent Canada at the CONCACAF men's under-20 championship, which runs from March 6 to 15 in Trinidad and Tobago. METRO NEWS SERVICES

Huskies fall to first-place X-Men

AUS The St. Francis Xavier X-Men flexed their muscles in Atlantic University Sport men's basketball yesterday. The nationally fifthranked X-Men improved to 10-1 this season and increased their lead atop the AUS standings, edging past the Saint Mary's Huskies 71-70 in Antigonish. The X-Men, whose only loss this season came at the hands of the Huskies, have an eight-point cushion on the second-place Huskies (8-4) and Cape Breton Capers (8-3). The Dalhousie Tigers had a tough weekend, losing a home-and-home with the P.E.I. Panthers to fall to 7-5. In women's play, third-place Dal (9-3) stretched its winning streak to nine games with two wins over P.E.I.

Hockey Huskies fall further back

AUS The Saint Mary's Huskies have fallen five points out of first in Atlantic University Sport men's hockey. The Huskies beat the St. Thomas Tommies 6-5 on Friday in overtime but suffered a 6-2 loss to the Moncton Aigles Bleus in a pivotal matchup on Saturday and are 15-7, five points behind the firstplace New Brunswick Varsity Reds. The V-Reds are 16-2-3 and are 12-0-1 in their last 13 games. The Dalhousie Tigers lost weekend games to the V-Reds (4-1 on Saturday) and the P.E.I. Panthers (4-1 on Friday).

Local fighter joins UFC circuit

MMA Cole Harbour native T.J. Grant has landed a four-fight contract on the Ultimate Fighting Championship circuit. The 24year-old, who has a career record of 13-2, is tentatively scheduled make his debut against Ryo Chonan (15-9) in UFC 97 on April 18 at Bell Centre in Montreal. Grant made his debut at Extreme Cage Combat 1 in Halifax in 2006 and is currently training in Thailand.

METRO NEWS SERVICES

Sports in brief

AUS The first-place Dalhousie Tigers (12-2) cruised to backto-back sweeps of the New Brunswick Varsity Reds (7-9) in Atlantic University Sport men's volleyball play at Dalplex on Friday and Saturday.

METRO NEWS SERVICES

Rainmen wash out Stampede

MATTHEW WUEST matthew.wuest@metronews.ca

caught napping on the court. The Rainmen snapped a three-game losing streak on the weekend by sweeping a home-and-home with the Buffalo Stampede, wrapping things up yesterday at the Metro Centre with a 105-94 victory before a crowd of 2,308.

The wild weekend started on Saturday at 4 a.m., when the Rainmen left Halifax and flew to Buffalo. They beat the Stampede 112-108 that night, caught a few hours sleep, then flew back to Halifax at 3 a.m. yesterday morning.

"Two games in less than 24 hours ... That's a lot," said Rainmen forward Cordell Jeanty, who had enough left to post a teamhigh 18 points. "It was a rough weekend."

The Rainmen had surprising jump yesterday, grabbing the lead late in the first quarter and never letting go. They improved to 5-3, a game behind the Manchester Millrats (4-2) for first in the Premier Basketball League's Atlantic Conference. Glen Dandridge equalled Jeanty with 18 points, while Jimmy Twyman capped a strong weekend with 15 points. Rob Sanders, nursing a calf injury, added 14 points.

When it came to getting some shut-eye, the Rainmen had to be creative, hitting the pillow at every opportunity.

Rainmen forward David Bailey dunks during the first half of yesterday's PBL game against the Buffalo Stampede at the Metro Centre. Halifax won 105-94.

"I slept in the hotel, during the drive, on the plane ... Add it all up, and I slept about six, seven hours,' Jeanty said.

"That's not enough for a regular person, but you've got to make do."

Twyman, who played for the Harlem Globetrotters for three years, said it's all part of professional basket-

"We played every day with the Globetrotters," the hard-nosed point guard said. "We're a little beat, but this feels great. We worked so hard in practice and to get these two victories boosts our confidence. We're ready to roll now."

Suspended Rainmen star Eric Crookshank was in the crowd, sporting a red Air Canada T-shirt in his court-side seat. He interacted with his teammates during the game and even caught an errant pass in the third quarter.

John Strickland had 12 points in his debut at the Metro Centre and hammed it up for the crowd all game. He also grabbed the microphone after game and told the fans they were the best he'd seen in his 14-year pro ca-

Mooseheads goaltender Mathieu Corbeil lays on the ice while Robert Slaney of the Cape Breton Screaming Eagles, centre, celebrates after scoring a goal during the first period

Corbeil shines in OT loss

MATTHEW WUEST matthew.wuest@metronews.ca

Halifax Mooseheads rookie goalie Mathieu Corbeil was thrown right into the fire after a threeweek layoff.

Corbeil, making his first start since Jan. 4 after breaking the index finger on his catching hand in a practice, faced a barrage of 49 shots and was the third star in a 3-2 overtime loss to the Cape Breton Screaming Eagles in Sydney.

It was a season-high for shots allowed "Corbeil played as Halifax (13-30-5) fell to 0for-7 in the considering the eight-game layoff."

season series. "Cape Bre-ton is a team that always has a lot of shots — they throw everything at the net and they're good at getting to rebounds," Mooseheads head coach Cam Russell said.

"Corbeil played very well, especially considering the layoff."

Mooseheads defenceman Gabriel O'Connor took a minor penalty with 15 seconds left in regulation and that resulted in Nicolas winner just 53 seconds into extra time.

Gaudet goes to camp

Discipline was also the Mooseheads' downfall in a 5-2 home loss to the Quebec Remparts on Friday.

"It was a bad penalty," Russell said, of O'Connor's minor.

"You're in a tied hockey game, you've got to play hard and you've got to play smart. It's not the time to take penalties."

Charles Bety was the first star, scoring both of Halifax's goals.

Russell made some bold lineup > changes, breaking up the so-called Euro Line and moving leading scor-Yuri Cheremetiev to what can fairly be described as the fourth line. He also promoted 18-year-old Ned O'Brien, who was one of Halifax's top players in Friday's loss.

"If guys are going to compete and work hard, we're going to give them the (ice time) they deserve," Russell said.

Defenceman Justin Pender (abdominal strain) and forward Eric Louis-Seize (shoulder) missed both games.

McConnery wins provincial title

MATTHEW WUEST natthew.wuest@metronews.ca

Nancy McConnery pulled off an upset to win the Nova Scotia Scotties Tournament of Hearts yesterday.

McConnery and her fourth-seeded Dartmouth rink of third Jennifer Crouse, second Sheena Gilman and lead Jill Thomas, knocked off No. 1 Mary-Anne Arsenault's Mayflower rink in the provincial women's curling final in Bridgewater.

Arsenault, who won last year's Scotties but is curling with a new team this year, entered as the top seed.

"Obviously, Mary-Anne was the favoured team, and we went in with nothing to lose," McConnery said. "We went out there and said, 'We have to make our shots and not worry about who we're playing or what the other team does.' And we did that. Everybody played excellent and it worked out."

McConnery, who also won a provincial crown in 2003, pulled into a 4-4 tie with a deuce in the sixth end, then stole one in the seventh and two more in

"Curling's a strange sport. Anybody can win on a given day ... it's just who's hot at the time ... We played excellent in the morning and kept the momentum going."

Nancy McConnery

the ninth to earn a 7-4

She also Mayflower's Jill Mouzar 8-2 in the morning semifinal and finished 6-3 overall.

"Curling's a strange sport," McConnery said. "Anybody can win on any given day ... it's just who's hot at the time. We just happened to have two really hot games today. "We played excellent in the morning and kept the beat momentum going."

Arsenault, who won a pair of world titles as a member of Colleen Jonesskipped rinks, went 6-2 overall.

McConnery advances to nationals starting Feb. 21 in Victoria, B.C.

SCOREBOARD

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS
Cape Breton 3 HALIFAX 2 (OT) Gatineau 5 Val-d'Or 4 (OT) Moncton 6 Baie-Comeau 3 Quebec 6 Saint John 4 Rimouski 5 Rouyn-Noranda 2 Victoriaville at Drummondville

ATLANTIC DIVISION W L PCT

HALIFAX 3 .625 Vermont 3 .571 Montreal YESTERDAY'S RESULT

HALIFAX 105 Buffalo 94 SUNDAY'S GAME HALIFAX 112 Buffalo 108

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Toronto 113 Sacramento 97 Boston 124 Dallas 100 Houston 108 Detroit 105 Indiana 98 Charlotte 93 L.A. Lakers 99 San Antonio 85 Phoenix 104 Atlanta 99 Chicago at Minnesota Utah at Denver L.A. Clippers at Golden State

Don't miss Curtain Call, Metro's exclusive feature series in the Workology section. In the realm of death, there are some interesting, lucrative and mysterious career opportunities; we will be digging up the stories for you, so check out Metronews.ca/work exclusively throughout January.

13

Workology

Unmet targets in Halifax

In its forthcoming 2009 Economic Scorecard Report, the Halifax Chamber of Commerce says regional universities are failing to meet the target of increasing admissions by 500 students a year. In 2008, 785 fewer students were attending metro Halifax universities than in 2004, and "the declining trend is cause for concern," it said.

METRO NEWS SERVICES

EDITOR: DOUGLAS DUNLOP, DOUGLAS.DUNLOP@METRONEWS.CA

Snow in the hill, then ski it yourself

f you're an avid skier, you'll be envious of Jodie McCutcheon. "It's a dream job," says the 37-year-old snowmaking, roads and parking manager for the Whistler Blackcomb ski resort in Whistler, B.C. "I work days, I have technology at my disposal, I make darn good money and I get to ski a lot."

McCutcheon manages a staff of as many as a hundred people, including six millwrights that do equipment repairs year-round and a large staff of seasonal snowmakers who work from October to January. These mostly young men work 12-hour shifts operating 270 snowmaking guns. These guns shoot out water that turns into snow when combined with air. Snowmaking staff adjusts the water pressure and the direction of the guns, plus they move them around the mountain and shovel.

For the avid skier or snowboarder, snowmaking can be a very rewarding career.

It's McCutcheon's job to decide if it's cold enough to make snow (it's less efficient to make snow once it gets up to -1 C), assess the quality of the artificial snow and map out where the guns are going next.

He gets to his computer at about 5:30 a.m. Cameras on the mountain help him assess the snow and equipment. He also schedules his staff, checks the weather, monitors the water level in the resort's reservoir and looks ahead to upcoming ski competition and events that will need additional snow.

By about 8:15 a.m. he's outside on skis, checking the slopes and the guns. By lunch he's back in the office again, and his workday ends by 2 or 3 p.m.

McCutcheon comes from a farm in northern B.C. and briefly studied arts at university. In 1991 he moved to Whistler to be a ski bum. He started working for the mountain in equipment rentals and then as a ski patroller.

He had some friends who

He had some friends who did snowmaking, and he liked what he heard about the job. "It was mechanical, very hands-on, very physical. And it was away from customer service. I thought

The Lowdown

Job title: Snowmaker
Salary: Starts at $14.25/hour
Education/training: On the job training; ability to ski and knowledge of snow through

Best part of the job: "Being in control and skiing every day."
Worst part of the job: "Babysitting. I deal with a lot of 19- and 20-year-olds on my staff."

I'd like it."

He joined the seasonal team in 1998. In the summer he worked as a carpenter.

When the snowmaking season ended each year, he was free to ski or take a warm beach holiday.

The resort started investing more in snowmaking. McCutcheon was great with computers and technology, and started moving up the ranks. Eighteen months ago, his boss moved on and he found himself head of snowmaking operations.

It's safe to say, this guy knows snow.

Diane Peters once hawked magic pens at the Canadian National Exhibition. She's now a writer and part-time journalism instructor.

'Grief ... touches all of us'

Curtain Call

NOELLE MUNARETTO for Metro Canada

Death is an inevitable part of being blessed with life. But when someone you love dies, coping with the emotional whirlwind of loss can often make living your own life more difficult.

As the director of the Canadian Centre for Bereavement Education and Grief Counselling, trauma and grief therapist Pam Fitzgerald has spent 20 years helping people understand the dynamics of that loss

"Grief is something that touches all of us," she says. "What I do is work with people to have them work with the pain."

Fitzgerald insists that although it is impossible to fully accept the death of a friend or family member,

"What I do is work with people to have them work with the pain."

Grief therapist Pam Fitzgerald counselling is an essential part of the grieving process that people should view as a positive step towards self-healing.

"We never get over (death)," she said. "The whole point when I work with grief is to decrease the impact of the emotional pain — focusing on living in the now without forgetting the past."

Though Fitzgerald started out as pediatric nurse at Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children, she eventually became more interested in providing ongoing aftercare for the families of her young patients who faced a loss.

She went back to university and completed post-graduate studies in trauma. After her training in psychotherapy, Fitzgerald travelled the world learning different practices including hypnosis and energy healing ing.

"I was laughed at and kind of called a witch," she says chuckling, looking back on the early days of her career when those forms of therapy weren't as widely accepted as they are today. "But I look more for the cause as opposed to just treating the symptoms, because we are more than the sum of our parts.

"Everything is energy. If we don't move that energy we create energy blocks and we create disease," adds Fitzgerald.

Since many of her clients have experienced extreme trauma such as suicide, sexual abuse, murder or other violent death, Fitzgerald acknowledges that hearing

Trauma and grief therapist Pam Fitzgerald has spent 20 years helping people through their loss.

their stories on a day-to-day basis affects her own emotions, too.

"Anybody that is going to be in this line of work needs to have really good selfcare," she says, revealing that even she visits a counsellor. "I practice what I preach."

Fitzgerald's office is also filled with hope. The delicate angel statues, photos, paintings, and comic strips found around the room are thank you gifts from people she has helped. These remind Fitzgerald of the best part of her career; watching people who have been touched by grief realize they are not broken beings but whole ones.

'I see when we're dropped to our knees in pain it's the opportunity for spiritual awakening and to take back our power," she says. "We can never truly learn to live unless we confront death."

Recently, Democratic leaders in the U.S. House of Representatives released a draft of an $825-billion US economic stimulus package, with tens of billions of dollars targeting higher education. METRO NEWS SERVICES

College & University 2009

Dead, but how?

Curtain Call

JON TATTRIE

When a medical mystery comes to a dead end, they call in Marnie Wood. The forensic pathologist for the Nova Scotia Medical Examiner Service studies the bodies of people who have died of diseases or unnatural injuries like gunshot wounds and car crashes.

wounds and car crashes.

"I love it," she says.

"What interests me is finding out the answers to questions and making the pieces of the puzzle fall together."

In the course of the 250 autopsies she does annually, she works with a crack team of police officers, forensic anthropologists, forensic dentists and toxicologists to figure out how the dead person got that "I get to do autopsies some days, to look at things under the microscope and do readings around cases. One day I might go out to a scene and the next day testify in court."

When a body makes its way to Wood, her three tasks are to identify the person, determine the cause of death and then determine the manner of death (murder, suicide or natural causes.) She testifies in murder cases, but she's never been concerned for her safety.

"Most of the cases that go to court, it wasn't much of a mystery. The people were shot or stabbed," she says. Her evidence is important, but it's not going to make the case.

Wood first learned about forensic pathology like most of us: Through TV shows such as Quincy. She warns, however, reality isn't a TV show.

"We're not quite as pretty," she laughs. "We don't have fashion co-ordinators."

They also don't have the firm answers of the cast of CSI; it's usually more grey than black and white. Wood did, however, rub shoulders with crime writer Patricia Cornwell when Wood was training in

To be a forensic pathologist, you need a lot of education.

Richmond, Va.

Some cases hit hard, but most of the time the mystery takes centre stage. "You focus on finding the answers," Wood says. "I find it really interesting and satisfying."

Her first autopsy was in a hospital during her medical degree. She was hooked straight away. "You spend so much of the rest of medicine learning to keep people alive, yet here you are with this person who is already gone."

It became her passion.
After a quick 14 years of education including a BSC, medical degree and five years of anatomical pathology, she was ready to start

Co-op or not?

JOSEPHINE LIM for Metro Canada

Three years ago, Cindy Huang was accepted into the University of Toronto's management co-op program on their Scarborough, Ont., campus. She was looking to gain experience in her field and earn money while she was at it.

She'd soon find out there was more to the co-op program than she expected.

When it's time to choose universities, picking between a co-op program and a regular one is a difficult decision. The job experi-

Co-op fee

• There is a co-op fee usually, and for Cindy Huang it's about $400 each semester.

ence and money you can gain are good incentives, but it does come with its cons.

For Huang, one thing she doesn't like is the application process. Her program's policy requires her to complete 25 initial job applications, only in her field of study.

It also states that if a student rejects two or more offers without good reason then they are unable to apply to any more positions offered by the co-op office during that term.

"You will probably get a job, but maybe not the job you want," says Huang. "Some of the jobs available are bad and no one wants it."

Not only that, but she's also required to go to all of her interviews.

"Most of the time you need to give up your lecture and go for an interview," says Huang. "Even though you have exams and you want to study you can't."

On the other hand, Alison Kuepper, a co-op field coordinator at the University of Waterloo, says having a lot of interviews is actually a pro and part of the learning process.

Despite the cons, Huang does like that co-op helps her work toward her future career.

"If you're not in co-op and you search for a job it's hard to find a job that matches your future career," she says.

Ming Qu, a third-year system design engineering student at the University of Waterloo, chose to go there because of its co-op program.

However, it turned out to be a bad situation for him. He had issues during his work term at a software company in downtown

Toronto with his co-worker. It got to the point where he became disinterested in his position, yet had to endure it for four months.

At the University of Waterloo, coordinators have available information about the placement and the general opinion of the work environment. Qu checked this beforehand, but he says sometimes it doesn't help.

"There's really very little (you can do) because you can't really tell until you start working," says Qu. "You can't tell what you like, even from other people's opinions."

In a situation like this, Kuepper says this is where her job her comes in. She suggests that the student talks to the employer about the situation, but it should be brought up with the coordinator first.

Even with his experience Qu says he still thinks coop is well worth it.

"At school you have to be good academically, but in the workforce you have to have very good communication and on top of that, organization," says Qu.

As much opportunity as training in pathology

JON TATTRIE for Metro Canada

It's a long road from watching CSI to becoming a forensic pathologist. After a four-year undergraduate degree, usually in the sciences, students must complete four years of medical school and then a five-year residency in forensic pathology.

That's 13 years of expenses

That's 13 years of expensive education, but rewarding for those who stick to it, says Dr. Michael Shkrum, head of the specialty committee for forensic pathology at the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of

Canada

"You have to have a healthy sense of scientific and intellectual curiosity and be willing to sort through some very difficult problems."

The training includes autopsies, microscopic assessments of specimens removed during surgery and cytology, the study of cells.

Until 2003, there were no accredited residency training programs in Canada, so pathologists went to the U.S. or the U.K. The Royal College now recognizes forensic pathology as a specialty and students can train in Toronto, with other cen-

res to follow

"We're hoping that program will generate at least two formally trained Canadian pathologists on a yearly basis," said Shkrum, who practices at the London Health Sciences Centre in Ontario. The training likely will stay in big cities like Toronto so students can become experts in a wide range of cases.

"There are very exacting legal standards that have to be addressed, because the work of a forensic pathologist can be presented in court," he said.

There aren't a lot of forensic pathologists in

"We're really hanging on by our fingernails at the various units across the province."

Dr. Michael Shkrum on the forensic pathologist shortage

Canada, Shkrum said, but plenty of work. "We're really hanging on by our fingernails at the various units across the province. They're undermanned and there's a large volume of cases that comes through."

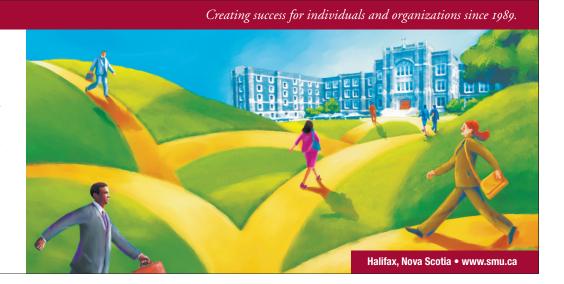

"The MCPM program gave me the tools to move from a purely IT/project coordinator position to a project manager role where I now lead projects."

Emo, Project Manager, DND Halifax

The Masters Certificate in Project Management Find out more at: http://epd.smu.ca

The Bahamas senator arrested over an alleged plot to extort money from movie star John Travolta has resigned from her post, despite vowing to prove her innocence. IMDB.COM

15

metro

Entertain Miss America Katie Stam of Indiana was crowned Miss America on Saturday, fighting off a throat infection, laryngitis and 51 other contestants to win the pageant. METRO NEWS SERVICES

EDITOR: DEAN LISK, DEAN.LISK@METRONEWS.CA

Design diversity

Reality series showcases Canadian fashions

BRIAN COULTON for Metro Canada

On one side of the catwalk sit nervous budding designers, their eyes the sole indicators of any present jitters. Judgment, on the other hand, flows from the facial expressions of the fashion professionals who scribble notes as garments slink by on the svelte limbs of the models on parade.

This vogue vision is not filling the tents at Toronto Fashion Week, nor the seasonal debuts in New York or Paris. The scene is ripped from the unexpectedly stylish streets of Ottawa, the backdrop for the second season of design reality program Project Runway Canada, in which 14 aspiring designers compete for $100,000.

"The style in Ottawa tends to be thought of as conservative and high quality, with embassies and ambassadors and all kinds of high-end events," said Andrea Gabourie, the series' executive producer. "But I think there's a real emerging diversity in fashion here ... One of our goals with the show is making Canadians excited about knowing who the Canadian fashion designers are and buying their clothes."

Elevating designers into national recognition is largely established by the immediacy with which the show allows a complete unknown to display their construction and design abilities not just to the Canadian public, but also to internationally respected designers.

Brian Bailey is one of them. The women's sportswear and eveningwear designer and Canada's first to produce complementary collections for both traditional and plus sizes returns this season to mentor the contestants.

"It's about immediate brand building," Bailey said. "It's about delivering into the hearts and homes Ready for takeoff of Canadians across Canada that watch television that we have a Canadian design industry and that (its designers) are fabulous! That's a damn nice Canadian thing to say, isn't it?"

 Project Runway Canada premieres on Global TV tomorrow night.

But, while it may be nice to make Canadian designers feel special, there's no denying the misconception that the show is a fashion stepchild to the United States, says this season's host supermodel Iman.

"They have no idea how great their talent is, so they don't bring their game on because they think, 'Oh where will it go?'

go?'
"Fashion is global.
There's not just a Canadian designer."

She begs to prove the Canadian designers wrong by bringing her industry

Supermodel Iman returns as host of Project Runway Canada.

expertise to the table.

"By sheer luck, wouldn't it be great if I discovered the genius of tomorrow?" she says, with a roar of laughter.

Weekend box office

- Paul Blart: Mall Cop:
- $21.5 million US

 Underworld: Rise of the
- Lycans: $20.7 million
- Gran Torino:
- $16 million

 Hotel for Dogs:
- $12.4 million
- Slumdog Millionaire: $10.5 million
- My Bloody Valentine:
- 3-D: $10 million Inkheart:
- $7.7 million

 Bride Wars:
- $7 million
- Curious Case of Benjamin
- Button: $6 million
- Notorious: $5.7 million

REUTERS

Rise of the superbore

Underworld: Rise of The Lycans

Director: Patrick Tatopoulos
Stars: Rhona Mitra, Michael
Sheen, Bill Nighy
Classification: 18A
Rating: 🕮

IAN GORMELY for Metro Canada

It's a remarkable feat that the Underworld series of films have managed to make a war between vampires and werewolves so boring.

Underworld: Rise of the Lycans, the third (and fingers crossed for final) instalment is a prequel, fleshing out the origin of the centuries-long struggle between these two creatures of the night. Thing is, if you've seen the first two films (Underworld and Underworld: Evolution) you'll already know this tale; both films spent plenty of screen time creating this back-story through flashbacks and over-the-top monologues.

Michael Sheen stars in Underworld: Rise of the Lycans.

As for viewers who managed to miss these cinematic gems, do you really care?

Rise of the Lycans' plot revolves around two star-crossed lovers, but instead of Montagues and Capulets, it's vampires and lycans. Sonia (played by Doomsday's Rhona Mitra) loves lycan slave Lucian (a slumming Michael Sheen) much to the chagrin of her vampire king father Viktor

(a humourless Bill Nighy).

When Viktor has his daughter killed for her transgressions, Lucian flips, rallies the other werewolf slaves and all hell breaks loose.

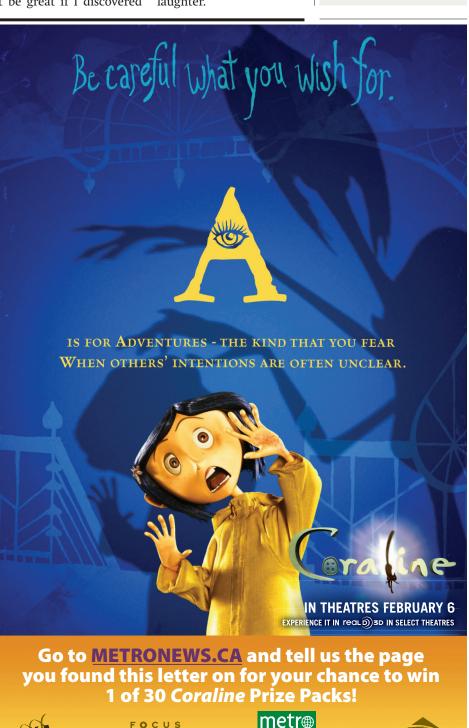

Being a prequel, Rise of the Lycans is freed from the need to bring viewers up to speed with a convoluted back-story, something that dragged down its predecessors. So this is the most accessible and straightforward film in the trilogy.

That said, for all the effort that has been made to flesh out the world in which the Underworld series exists the characters that inhabit it are one-dimensional archetypes.

And this really wouldn't be a problem if the action sequences weren't so dull. The choreographed gunplay that typified the first two movies has been replaced with sword fight retreads mixed with Matrix copping aerial stunts.

This could have been a great bad movie, but instead it's just boring.

LAIKA

No purchase necessary. Contest open to Canadian residents of legal age, excluding residents of Quebec. Contest closes January, 30th 2009.

Odds of winning depend on number of entries received. Winners will be required to answer a skill testing question. For full contest rules and details, visit www.metronews.ca

16entertainment

Slumdog scores again
Slumdog Millionaire has won the top award from the Producers Guild of America. METRO NEWS SERVICES

Vets win big at SAGs

Streep, Penn take best actress/actor awards

Slumdog Millionaire took the top prize at the Screen Actors Guild Awards last night, boosting its chances of an Oscar next month, on a night that saw awards scattered across five movies.

Slumdog Millionaire, the story of a Mumbai slum dweller who hits the big time on a TV game show, won the prize for best ensemble cast in a motion picture.

Sean Penn won the best actor award for playing slain San Francisco gay rights activist Harvey Milk in Milk, while Meryl Streep was a popular best actress winner for her role as a vindictive nun in the Catholic Church abuse drama Doubt.

Neither Milk nor Doubt has featured strongly in the awards season so far, but the Screen Actors Guild, in which Hollywood actors honour their peers, is known for throwing curveballs on the road to the Oscars.

Milk has played well in Los Angeles, where the gay community was embittered

YOU COULD

Meryl Streep and Sean Penn accept the best actress and actor awards at the Screen Actors Guild Awards last night.

by a November 2008 referendum that banned samesex marriage in California. "This is a story about equal rights for all human beings," Penn said in his acceptance speech.

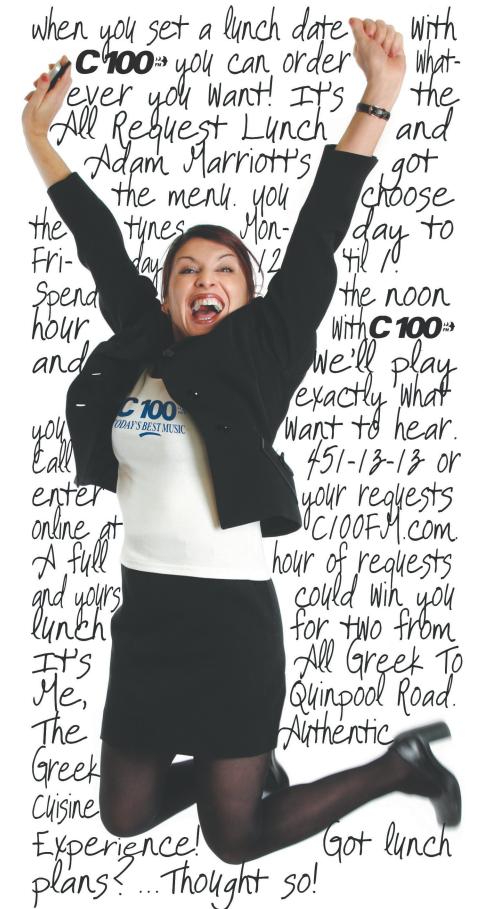

Streep paid tribute to other strong performances by women in the past year, adding, "There is no such thing as the best actress. There is no such thing as the greatest living actress," referring to the accolade often bestowed on her.

Australia's Heath Ledger, who died a year ago, added a SAG best supporting actor award to his tally for playing the Joker in Batman blockbuster The Dark Knight.

British actress Kate Winslet won the best supporting actress SAG award for her role as a German woman with a hidden Nazi past in The Reader.

REUTERS

IN THEATRES FEBRUARY 6th

VISIT METRONEWS.CA AND ENTER FOR YOUR CHANCE TO WIN!

No purchase necessary. One entry per person. Contest open to Canadian residents of legal age, excluding residents of Quebec. Contest closes January 23, 2009 at 11:59pm. Odds of winning depend on number of entries received. For full contest rules and details, visit www.metronews.ca.

Being Ab Fab in L.A. From mom to son, with love from dad

IntelleVision

WHAT'S THE AMERICAN FOR 'SWEETIE DARLING?' Fox is apparently pressing ahead with an Americanized version of Absolutely Fabulous, the BBC comedy that debuted in 1992 and sporadically produced five seasons and several specials.

I'm a big fan of the original show, which was, at its best, one of the most inspired caustic and pieces of social satire put on television.

I'm also no longer confident of my abilities to predict how well Americanizations of British shows will fare; I dismissed NBC's version of The Office before it premiered, and despite a miserable false start, ABC's Life on Mars turned out a lot better than my dire pre-

While it's good news that Jennifer Saunders — one of original - will be executive producing the Fox version, there's still good reason to be worried about the show, which has been given a pilot order according to Variety and could hit the air by the fall.

WHAT COULD GO RIGHT: According to Variety, they've set the show in Los Angeles, which isn't exactly the centre of the fashion industry in America, but that could work; anyone who's watched a couple of seasons of Project Runway knows that the biggest loose cannons on the show are often products of L.A.'s fashion scene.

anyone who's And spent time in the boutiques of Hollywood or Beverly Hills can tell you that L.A. has money and taste in inverse proportions — as little of the latter as it has much of the former. Last year the stores were filled with pricey versions of what heavy metal groupies were wearing in the mid-'80s; it would be rich to see Fox's version of Edina making her entrance swathed in L.A.'s take on the original show's Christian Lacroix tat.

Jennifer Saunders, left, and Joanna Lumley served up the laughs in the British comedy Absolutely Fabulous.

The city matches England's abject celeb culture and exceeds it for flaky New Age trends, so the writers shouldn't have a problem mining their hometown for fecund material, and hopefully the casting director will be able to provide cameos and guest spots from celebrities on the A, B and Z lists willing to lampoon themselves.

WHAT COULD GO WRONG:

"(Los Angeles) matches England's abiect celeb culture and exceeds it for flaky New Age trends, so the writers shouldn't have a problem mining their hometown for fecund material."

For the life of me I can't think of any Americans able to match Saunders' or (especially) Joanna Lumley's crucial roles in the show; even in England, it was hard to imagine anyone willing to humiliate themselves by embodying such grandly irredeemable characters.

Faced with this obstacle, the writers and producers could scale back the show's comic ambitions, at which point it'll be dead in the water. I am, of course, happy to be proved wrong.

> Rick McGinnis writes about music, movies, books and television, but not opera.

with love from dad

A Journal for Jordan

Author: Dana Canedy Publisher: Crown Publishers Price: $30 (Hardcover)

When 1st Sgt. Charles King was killed in Iraq in 2006, he left behind a 200-page journal for his infant son Jordan, which offered the boy lessons on life and love. In A Journal for Jordan, King's widow Dana Canedy constructs her own letters to their son, combining excerpts from her husband's journal with an intimate account of her relationship with her husband

That Went Well

Author: Terrell Harris Dougan Publisher: Hyperion Price: $29.95 (Hardcover)

After her sister Irene was born in 1946, Terrell Harris Dougan's life turned upside down. Irene was mentally disabled, and the family had to decide whether to institutionalize their beloved daughter, as was then the norm, or try to integrate her into society. They chose the latter, and this book is Dougan's comic, touching account of growing up with Irene and how caring for her impacted her parents' lives and her own pursuit of normalcy.

BookPicks

Hope & Despair

Author: Monia Mazigh Publisher: McClelland & Stewart Price: $34.99 (Hardcover)

Maher Arar didn't make it home to Canada from a family vacation in Tunisia in 2002. In Hope & Despair, Arar's wife Monia Mazigh recounts discovering he'd been detained on suspicion of ties to al-Qaida, his deportation to Syria and subsequent torture. Mazigh relives that time in unrelenting detail: She raised their two children alone, struggled with the Canadian government and worked tirelessly for a reunion.

BRIAN COULTON/FOR METRO CANADA

Internet TVs generate buzz

TECHNOLOGY A new generation of Internet-connected TV sets are emerging as potentially useful tools for the recording industry in its ongoing quest to extend the reach of digital music into living rooms.

Judging from the buzz that connected TVs generated at the otherwise subdued International Consumer Electronics Show in Las Vegas recently, Internet access may soon become as important a feature to TV buyers as screen size and resolution.

Attempts to bring online connectivity to TV screens are hardly new. What's different this year is that instead of pitching such TVs as a way to browse the web, TV makers are touting their ability to deliver a wider range of entertainment options. REUTERS

critics'corner-

All it takes is one intimidating person to make someone leery person to make someone leery of standing up for herself. In this new episode, Erica (Erin Karpluk) has a new boss who's a real bully. To help her gain the confidence to confront him, Dr. Tom (Michael Riley) sends her back to university for a dover with a fearsome professor. over with a fearsome professor. Tyron Leitso also stars in "The Secret of Now." 9 PM on CBC

There's nothing like a health scare to jolt a guilty conscience. Fred (Neil Crone) gets some frightening news about his health from Rayyan (Sitara Hewitt) at the clinic. Convinced he's not long for this world, he goes to work mending fences with Mercv's Muslim community. Carlo Rota and Zaib Shaikh also star in the new enisode of Dying Dangerously." 8 PM on

All About She had the misfortune to be on "American Idol" the season after another blond country girl took the big prize, but that hasn't stopped season five sixth-place finisher Kellie Pickler from establishing her own music career. This new episode compiles recent interviews, news and video of the 22-year-old artist whose first single, "Don't You Know You're Beautiful" is doing beautiful things for that career. 8 PM on CMT

18 entertainment

Actress Molly Ringwald, left, is preparing for double trouble — she's expecting twins, imdb.com reports. The Breakfast Club star, 40, has announced she is pregnant with a boy and a girl, according to People.com. METRO NEWS SERVICES

Celebrity Buzz

Prince dumped

Sex and the City star denies split

Manhattan home.

But Parker and Broderick have been putting on a united front, appearing in public together Thursday night to see Broadway play, The

And Parker brushed off the breakup rumours, telling People.com, "This is date night. It was really lovely. We don't even bother to address them (the re-

And when asked the best thing about life as a married couple, the actress replied;

> The couple married in 1997 and has a four year old son, James Wilkie.

METRO NEWS SERVIECS

Angie's ex-bodyguard may release tell-all

SCANDAL Angelina Jolie's Oscar-nomination celebrations have been marred by reports her former bodyguard is planning a tell-all which will set out to prove the actress moved in on partner Brad Pitt when he was still married to Jennifer Aniston, imdb.com reports. Sources claim the actress, who was nominated for a actress Academy Award on Thursday, is seeking legal counsel to block Mickey Brett's expose, which will also expose intimate details of her courtship and

A publishing insider tells In Touch Weekly magazine, "He (Brett) knows everything about Angelina. It's going to be one of the most explosive books ever sex life with

Pitt.

written."

Brett, who headed up the Jolie/Pitt's security detail when the couple went into hiding in Namibia before the birth of baby daughter Shiloh in 2006, was reportedly fired by Pitt last year. The insider also tells In Touch Weekly, "The (book) will include all the sordid details of how they (Pitt and Jolie) got together while Brad was still married to Jennifer Aniston." Pitt attempted to clear up those rumours in a recent interview after Jolie revealed the couple had met and fallen in love on the set of action film Mr. & Mrs. Smith, which was made when the movie hunk was still married. He insisted there was no "dastardly affair."

METRO NEWS SERVICES

Yet Ramsay firmly denied the rumours, claiming: "It never happened. It was completely made up.

She set it up to make some money." Now the couple and Victoria Beckham

to be witnesses at the ceremony. A source told British tabloid The is Tana."

wants to show

just how infatuated he still

METRO NEWS

People,

"Gordon

IMAGE Actress Anne Hathaway has championed Scarlett Johansson and Beyonce Knowles for their curvy figures, praising the pair as good role models for youngsters, imdb.com reports.

Hathaway lauds curvier figures

Two on the way

The Devil Wears Prada star has recently been lambasted for being too skinny, although the 27-yearold is adamant she is a "normal shape." And Hathaway has hailed Johansson, Knowles, and fellow actress Reese Witherspoon for projecting healthy body images in a world where super-slim is often seen as an ideal.

She says, "I don't think it's just Hollywood that gives out that message. As a society we put out these unrealistic body images to young women.

"But I'm a normal shape and Scarlett Johansson is not a skinny, skinny girl. Beyonce Knowles looks after herself and has a beautiful body. Reese Witherspoon looks great."

Downey Jr. loves Googling himself

GOSSIP Actor Robert Downey Jr. loves to look himself up on the Internet — so he can see what people are saying about him, imdb.com reports.

The Tropic Thunder star was quizzed by Newsweek about his online habits and confessed to "Googling" himself on the web — and finds it hilarious when he comes across chatrooms dedicated to him. He says, "Oh, I love all that s-t, personally. Sorry. I love just it. Because it's a hoot. Some people overstate their support, like they know you.

'Other people are busy doing something else and just want to go on this chat site and say some despicable character assassination, which I honestly think they kind of nailed it. I do have that shortcoming. It's really fun." METRO NEWS SERVICES

Ramsays to renew vows

MARRIAGE TV chef Gordon Ramsay is set to renew his wedding vows months after allegations he cheated on his wife, imdb.com reports.

The F Word star's 12-year

Symonds.

marriage to wife was rocked in November by tabloid reports that he had a longstanding affair with "serial mistress'

Engagement rumours false: Gisele

ENGAGEMENT Supermodel Gisele Bundchen has dismissed reports she and American football star Tom are so creative. First Brady are engaged, imdb.com reports.

The pair has been subjected to repeated engagement rumours over the past

Separate reports alleged New England Patriots quarterback Brady had proposed on Christmas Eve and popped the question earlier this month.

But Leonardo DiCaprio's ex-girlfriend insists she has no sparkling ring to show off to pals. She says, "I don't know how people they said he proposed to me in a plane. Imagine, it was Dec. 24, Christmas, we were flying to Boston, then there was some champagne and we celebrated the

"Now there's a new rumour

date.

Charlie's Angels back for more

PEOPLE Drew Barrymore, And sources Lucy Liu and Cameron Ditell az are set to return to line.com the big screen as that Charlie's Angels three for a third film. els are slooking to imdb.com reports. Six years after the add fourth sequel Charlie's Angels: Full Throttle, lovely lady to the mix for the trio is ready to go again. their second Barrymore says, sequel, which is "I'm so into it .. set to start shoot-They're ing later this year. hard to movies METRO NEWS make, but SERVICES they're fun.'

MORE CONVENIENT THAN A CORNER STORE

entertainment 19

Take Five

For more delicious Metro recipes, visit: metronews.ca/food

Sudoku

HOW TO PLAY: Digits 1 through 9 will appear once in each zone – one zone is an outlined 3x3 grid within the larger puzzle grid. There are nine zones in the puzzle. Do not enter a digit into a box if it already appears elsewhere in the same zone, row across or column down the entire puzzle.

	3						4
		2				6
1	9		6	2	8		7	3
	8		9		2		3
2								9
	4		8		7		5
4	6		7	9	5		2	8
		3				7
	7						6

Crossword across

- 1 Exercise in the park
- 4 Duel tool 9 Method
- 12 Actress Gardner
- 13 "..., excavating for —"
- 14 A Gershwin brother
- 15 Potbelly 17 Fresh
- 18 Pub order
- 19 Greek islander
- 21 Moves on momentum
- 24 Loathe
- 25 Melody
- 26 Conk out
- 28 Sounds contented 31 Church furniture
- 33 Pompous sort

- 35 Golfer Aoki
- 36 Wields scissors
- 38 Snapshot
- 40 Old French coin
- 41 Memorandum
- 43 Second of two
- 45 Inn
- 47 Historic period
- 48 "That tastes awful!"
- 49 Wisconsin lake
- 54 Bikini half 55 Draw out
- 56 Prune
- 57 Stitch
- 58 Discourage
- 59 "Monty Python" opener

Crossword down

1 Pugilist's shot 2 Eggs

- 3 Festive
- 4 Went like Columbus 5 Serious forgetfulness
- 6 Auction action
- 7 Tennyson's "— Arden" 8 Swathe anew
- 9 Maxwell Anderson play
- 10 Neighborhood
- 11 Show boredom
- 16 Bankroll 20 Needle case
- 21 Spaces
- 22 Collateral option 23 "Rich Man, Poor Man"

- author
- 27 Kreskin's claim
- 29 Track competition
- 30 Acerbic
- 32 Dalmatian feature 34 Librarian's request
- 37 Intoxicated
- 39 Life's work
- 42 Skip a phoneme
- 44 Bill
- 45 Centers
- 46 Shrek is one
- 50 Enthusiast
- 51 Foreman foe
- 52 Understood
- 53 Harvest goddess

PREVIOUS DAY'S CROSSWORD AND SUDOKU ANSWERS:

S	Р	A		0	Р	s		C	R	1	Ε	S	5	3	4	8	9	2	7	6	1
LT	0	G		D	ш	Р		0	Р		Ν	ĮΕ		-	-			-			-
0	U	R		Ε	С	0	N	0	М	T	s	Т	7	2	8	1	6	3	5	4	9
Ī	С	Ε		S	Κ	0	Α	L					1	6	9	5	4	7	8	3	2
С	Н	E	W		Е	R	R		W	Α	D	lΕ	$\overline{}$	_	_	7	$\overline{}$	_		_	-
			0	Р	Т		Z	ī	R	С	0	N	9	5	1	7	3	6	2	8	4
			i.	_	•		_	÷	' '	-	-	 	0		7	_	_	_	_	4	_
ĮΑ	Ν	G	L	E				F	ш	ΙE	N	D	3	4	7	2	8	5	9	1	6
C	0	N	F	Α	В		Α	S	S				2	8	6	4	1	9	3	5	7
Т	R	U	Ε		Α	L	L		Т	0	Р	lΕ		Ť	Ť	H-	 	-	Ť	-	÷
				В	L	0	С	Κ		М	Α	Х	8	9	3	6	7	1	4	2	5
S	Α	Т	Υ	R	T	С	0	N		Ε	Т	Α	4	1	2	9	5	8	6	7	3
Α	Т	s	Ε	Α		Α	٧	E		G	Ε	L	6	7	_	_	_	4	4	9	0
┢	E	Б	Б	\overline{v}		Т	E	E		$\overline{}$	Б	Ŧ	О	/	5	3	2	4		9	8

Find today's answers + play more games at metronews.ca

SUDOKU	SOLVE	TIME:

- Under 13 minGenius 13-17 min.....Scholar
- 17-21 minSmart 21-25 minNot bad 25+ min.....Keep practising

Arroz con Pollo

Metro Recipe of the Day

INGREDIENTS:

3 lbs (1.5 kg) chicken breasts, thighs and drum-

Nonstick cooking spray 1 tbsp (15 ml) vegetable oil 1 cup (250 ml) uncooked long-grain white rice 2 cloves garlic, minced

2 cups low-sodium chicken broth 1 can (14 oz/392 g) lowsodium tomatoes, undrained and cut up 1 large green pepper, chopped 1/2 cup (125 ml) chopped cooked lower-sodium ham 3/4 tsp (4 ml) hot red pepper sauce

1/4 tsp (1 ml) salt 1/4 cup (50 ml) sliced black olives

METHOD:

1. Remove and discard chicken skin. Rinse chicken; drain and pat dry. Coat Dutch oven with cooking spray. Add oil and heat heat. Brown chicken in hot oil 10 minutes or until golden, turning occasionally. Remove chicken from Dutch oven. Add rice and garlic to Dutch oven. Cook and stir over moderate heat for 5 minutes or until rice just starts to brown. 2. Stir chicken broth, tomatoes, green pepper, ham, pepper sauce and salt into Dutch oven. Return chicken to Dutch oven. Bring to boil. Lower heat and simmer, covered, about 30 minutes or until chicken is cooked through and rice is tender. Stir in olives; heat through. SERVES 6 over moderately high

rd.ca

For nutritional infor mation on this and other great recipes, go to rd.ca or check out Key Ingredients in this month's Reader's Digest, on

AVATAR VENUS

Horoscopes

ARIES MARCH 21-APRIL 20

A bully will force a cancellation. You'll forget all about a bad moment. Something wonderful will happen before you know it. LIBRA

SEPT 23-OCT 23

Look for a pattern within the pandemonium. A weak-willed boy will go home. You'll hear a sad tale about cheating

TAURUS APRIL 21-MAY 21

A message appears from nowhere. Give someone another chance to make you happy. Forgive yourself for having second thoughts.

SCORPIO

OCT 24-NOV 22

A glitch causes irritability to flare up. A friend's information will be of importance. Your self-esteem is about to be increased.

GEMINI MAY 22-JUNE 21

Someone's words will replay in your mind. Relatives will have temper tantrums. Make a difference by giving an understandable message.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 23-DEC 21

Be tough as nails with boring people. A friend will explain about a break-up. Jumping to conclusions throws you off-balance.

CANCER JUNE 22-JULY 22

A misunderstanding can cause a break-up. Hearsay should be ignored in an unfair situation. A disturbing puzzle keeps you on your feet.

CAPRICORN DEC 22-JAN 20

Give someone a reason to avoid a difficult situation. A friend is sad about a revelation. A man lets go of a careless style.

LEO JULY 23-AUG 23

A girl is secretly hoarding stuff. Be cautious about giving advice to anyone. Remember to keep smiling, no matter what happens.

AQUARIUS JAN 21-FEB 18

Take the easy way out for a while. Make comments to help change a woman's mind. Get satisfaction from a new friendship.

VIRGO AUG 24-SEPT 22

An adventure will cause distress. Focus on what you can do to find happiness. Go out of your way to avoid cranky peo-

PISCES

FEB 19-MARCH 20

An irresistible woman will go too far. Don't be your own worst enemy. Opportunities will crop up between friends.

FLIGHT CENTRE Unbeatable

NIAGARA FALLS $449

INCLUDES roundtrip airfare to Toronto, car rental and 2 nights 4-star accom overlooking Niagara Falls over Valentine's Day.

1 866 967 5402 | flightcentre.ca

Conditions apply, Ex: Halifax. Package prices are per person based on double occupancy for return travel unles otherwise stated. Prices are subject to availability at advertising deadline and are for select departure dates. Price are accurate at time of publication, errors and omissions excepted, but are subject to change. Transportation related fees, taxes and HST are excluded.

BIG VALUE SMALL PRICES

2009 DODGE

Unbelieveable value! Air conditioning, power windows,power locks, keyless entry, power mirrors, cruise control, AM/FM CD Stereo – MP3 capability, automatic, Continuosly Variable Transaxle

NOW ONLY

316,477

MSRP $21,190

2009 DODGE JOURNEY

MUST SEE minivan room at a small car price, power windows, power door locks, cruise control, air conditioning, tinted rear windows, keyless entry, roof rack, floor mats

NOW ONLY

$19,997

MSRP $22,745

2009 DODGE GRAND CARAVAN

WOW – 7 passenger, rear stow N go, roof rack, Sirius Satelite, UConnect Hands Free Communication, Power locks, mirrors and windows, Air conditioning NOW ONLY

$19,997

MSRP $29,145

2009 DODGE RAM QUAD CAB 4X4

Must See All new styling – air conditioning, power windows,locks + mirrors, cruise control, 5.7L Hemi now with 380 hp., 17" Steel chrome clad wheels, trailer tow

NOW ONLY

362,277

MSRP $39,020

4 Great Vehicles 4 Great Prices

Smokin Hot Deals in the Middle of Winter

* All payments include freight + taxes, based on 84 amortization OAC, Prices exclude Freight and Taxes, limited quantities.  See Dealer For Details.

Where Nova Scotia Comes to Save!

www.ddodge.com • 469-9050

Serving Nova Scotia for 50 Years!

12 Lakelands Blvd., Bayers Lake Park www.halifaxchrysler.com • 455-0566